Club 100 after general discussion on the aspect of safety of the out and back Fornton leg and observations from riders regarding the narrow width of the road on this leg, also an extra road is now in operation at Battlefield island giving a total of five roads entering and leaving the roundabout. this may well increase the traffic flow on an island that has to be encircled by the competitors.

It was feeling of the meeting that we should adopt the course as used in the Shropshire C A 100 with an observer at Shawbury traffic lights. This being a circuit course should increase rider safety (i.e. riders travelling in one direction only) There are only three marshalling points, start at a similar position to this years course but heading south instead of north.

There being no objections this was agreed.

Timekeepers it was suggested that may be we as club had prevailed to much on Ian Shaw's good will, and that now was the time to show our appreciation of his good work over 20 years plus. Keith Orum and David Birchall to take this matter in hand up to £50 allocated.
